

ENVIRONMENTAL MONITORING COORDINATOR REGULATORY SPECIALIZATION

Become an environmental monitor – This program teaches you how to monitor the environment and impacts of human and industrial activities, how to communicate this information to stakeholders, and how to help mitigate environmental impacts.

You will learn how to use standard equipment and tools including environmental monitors safety equipment, maps, and GPS.

Regulatory monitors will learn how to monitor activities of industry to help ensure remain in compliance with commitments, agreements, and regulations.

INTRODUCTION TO ENVIRONMENTAL LEGISLATION

Receive an overview of the legislative environmental requirements that apply to development activities occurring under federal, territorial and provincial lands in Canada.

Regulatory requirements provide a foundation for monitoring programs and compliance programs.

MONITORING EFFECTS

Gain the basic knowledge required to identify potential environmental effects and the related monitoring and reporting requirements for each phase of a project.

TRAINING PATH ENV. MONITORING COORDINATOR CERTIFICATE

